This is a sample of a full-length book. It is Chapter 15 in "Ameritrekking and Highpointing: Finding the Lost River Range." If you already have that book, don't buy this booklet.

This is the author's account of his visit to Death Valley National Park, which is almost entirely in California. There are several color pictures.

The visit took place in the same year (1997) as the third Ameritrek, the subject of the main book. You are invited to travel vicariously to a famous park and sample the writing at the same time.

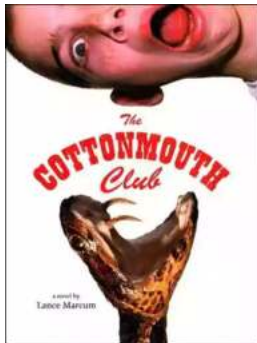

The main book resulted from an 8,000-mile, three-week road trip on which the author visited highpoints as well as local and national parks in 20 states.

Over the years he drove more than 100,000 miles and spent over a year on the road. He went to 45 highpoints and many other memorable places. He continues to travel and write. Buy this sample booklet and join the adventure today!
