

The First Indian Solo Circumnavigation Under Sail Making Waves

In the world of sailing, achieving a solo circumnavigation is no small feat. It requires unparalleled determination, skill, and endurance to navigate the treacherous waters of the world's oceans alone. And while many sailors have attempted this daunting challenge, only a select few have successfully completed it. One such sailor, making waves and rewriting history, is Indian Navy officer Commander Abhilash Tomy.

Commander Abhilash Tomy's ambitious journey began on November 1, 2012, when he set sail from Mumbai's Gateway of India on his yacht named "Thuriya." The 56-foot boat aptly named after a constellation in the Indian celestial sphere was Commander Tomy's home for the next 151 days, as he set out on a remarkable adventure that would make India proud.

The Indian Navy had a long-standing tradition of sailing, but no Indian had ever attempted a solo circumnavigation under sail before Commander Tomy. The challenge was daunting, with unpredictable weather patterns, heavy storms, and vast stretches of unforgiving seas to navigate. But armed with his extensive sailing experience and unwavering determination, Commander Tomy was ready to take on this herculean task.

An engrossing narrative of one man’s struggle to achieve his dream against all odds, this is both a fast-paced adventure and a telling commentary on how heroes are often made despite the system they operate in, by dint of sheer perseverance and commitment to a chosen path. Above all, it’s a paean to the power of self-belief that serves to inspire, motivate and exhilarate. On 19 May 2010, as he sailed INSV Mhadei into Mumbai harbour, Commander Dilip Donde earned his place in India’s maritime history by becoming the first Indian to complete a solo circumnavigation under sail, south of the 3 Great Capes. The feat, successfully completed by just over 200 people in the world, had never been attempted in his country before. In his own words, the book chronicles his progress over four years, from building a suitable boat with an Indian boat-builder; weaving his way through the ‘sea-blind’ and often quixotic bureaucracy; and training himself with no precedent or knowledge base in the country, to finally sailing solo around the world. During this gruelling task he was mentored by Sir Robin Knox-Johnston, the first man to sail solo non-stop around the world.
