Identifying Common Household Pests

Before implementing any pest control measures, it's essential to identify the type of pest you're dealing with. Let's take a closer look at some of the most common pests found in households:

1. Ants

From tiny sugar ants to larger carpenter ants, these pests seem to find their way into every nook and cranny of your home. Patrick White advises sealing all entry points, removing their food sources, and using ant baits to eliminate the colonies.

2. Cockroaches

Cockroaches are not only unsightly but also carry bacteria and allergens that can trigger asthma attacks. Patrick White emphasizes the importance of proper sanitation, sealing cracks and crevices, and using cockroach baits and traps to control their population.

3. Rodents

Rats and mice can wreak havoc on your home and belongings. They can contaminate food, chew through wires, and cause structural damage. Patrick White suggests sealing any entry points, using traps, and keeping your surroundings clean to deter them.

4. Bedbugs

Bedbugs are a nightmare for any homeowner. Patrick White recommends regular inspections, vacuuming, washing bedding in hot water, and using non-toxic insecticides to eliminate these tiny bloodsuckers.
