Eating and Drinking in Prague

Prague's culinary scene is a melting pot of flavors, combining traditional Czech dishes with international influences. Start your day with a hearty traditional breakfast of chlebíčky (open-faced sandwiches) and wash it down with a cup of creamy coffee from one of the local cafés.

For a taste of Czech comfort food, head to a traditional tavern and try the national dish, svíčková. This succulent marinated beef served with creamy sauce and dumplings will leave you craving for more. Don't forget to pair it with a refreshing glass of Pilsner Urquell, the Czech Republic's famous beer.

Indulge in Prague's vibrant pub scene known for its lively atmosphere and delicious brews. Join the locals in their love for beer and sample a variety of craft beers from the numerous microbreweries scattered across the city.
